Sports Car Championship Canada presented by Michelin adds Honda Indy Toronto to 2022 Schedule

March 2, 2022

The Sports Car Championship Canada presented by Michelin (SCCC) will make its debut appearance at Exhibition Place during the Honda Indy Toronto weekend, July 15-17. In just its second year of operation, the SCCC will be on full display at one of the largest motorsport events in Canada, the Honda Indy Toronto.

This announcement puts the Sports Car Championship Canada presented by Michelin on the top step of sports car racing in Canada. In mid-July fans will be able to see some of the best and biggest sports car teams in Canada racing along side some of the most famous names in motorsports as they share the weekend with the NTT INDYCAR SERIES teams and drivers.

It is the loyalty and passion from the sports car teams, drivers and fans that has carried the SCCC to these heights in just its second year of operation. Launched in 2021, the SCCC saw some of the biggest and best sports car teams and drivers in Canada competing for prizes and money that racing in Canada has not seen for many years.

FEL Motorsports, the promoters of the SCCC, full focus is on giving back to the teams and drivers offering excellent value. Prizing, including sets of tires, fuel, and cash is up for grabs each and every weekend, making the series unique in current times.

SCCC is expecting one of the largest grids of GT4 and TC Canada cars to date to be on the streets of Toronto in July.

Get ready to grab your caps and sunscreen, get your race tickets and head down to the Lake Shore in downtown this July to see some of your favourite Canadian drivers and cars racing around the streets of Toronto. Stay up on news at the various FEL Motorsports links below.
